--The Newark Advocate notes--The Misses Grace and Louie Green of the Hocking SENTINEL, accompanied by their father, and Miss Mary Till of Logan, were guests of their cousins, the Misses Starr, on last Saturday and Sunday. The young ladies made a flying visit to Granville on the electric train on Sunday afternoon, and were highly pleased with the beauty of this pretty college town.

--The people of the West end of town are exercised over manifestations of a spiritual nature which has been observed in an untenanted building, known as the Schwary house. The house was built a number of years ago by a man named Fox who subsequently moved to the South. The story goes that at intervals the house is mysteriously illuminated with lights of a ghastly character and that the doors open and shut without human agency and with an emphasis that betrays a very great positiveness among the spirits which are conducting the nightly services.

Mrs. Lucinda Jones.

Mrs. Lucinda Jones was the fourth child of Mead and Lucy Bowen, early residents of Logan, Ohio.

She was born, August 13th, 1819, in Logan, and when it was but a small village.

Here, she spent her childhood, and early womanhood; and here she was married, September 19th, 1839. Her husband, Mr. John Jones died twenty-one years previous to her death.

To them were born eight children, five of whom survive her.

One daughter became the wife of the Rev. M. L. Milford, a former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Logan, and now residing in the State of Nebraska.

Mrs. Jones made a profession of faith in Christ early in life, and united with the Presbyterian Church. She was of a most gentle disposition and patient under affliction.

In the domestic circle she was zealous in her attentions to all, and to her children, and to brother and sisters all remembrances of her are blessed.

Prevented in latter years from assembling herself with others at public worship, she yet lived near to God in the privacy of her home through prayer, and through His Word. Not a half hour previous to her death she expressed her trust in the Savior, and rejoiced in prayer. She died Sabbath evening, August 18th, 1895, aged 76 years and 5 days.

Logan, O., 8-20-95. D. R. M.

THE PRIMARY NEXT Saturday should be well attended. There is no bitter fight for the nominations. There is no ill will provoked against candidates. But all this good feeling should not induce democrats to stay at home. They should turn out, meet each other and talk and take counsel with one another and determine that each voter at the primary shall be a committee man to bring all the votes out to the election in November.

Rockbridge Ohio.

Quite a number from here took in the picnic at Buckeye Park Saturday. Simon Asbell has moved to Fairfield Co., where he expects to engage in farming. Mrs. Wm Wharton of the Rock House and Miss Jennie Wharton of Lancaster visited friends here the forepart of this week. Davy Rudolph and wife of Sugar Grove spent Sunday here. Miss Iva Wear of Lancaster has been visiting her parents here the past week. Gene Huls of Logan was in town Saturday evening and Sunday.

The Journal-Gazette says "Senator Brice favors free wool. Do the sheep raisers of Hocking intend to cast a vote endorsing him?" We do not suppose that the Journal-Gazette intends to endorse him, but it is not a sheep-raiser, and perhaps has not had much experience in selling wool for the past few years.

Just before the passage of the "McKinley Law" buyers paid us 30 cents per pound for our wool. The Republican papers promised us that if the McKinley bill passed we would get at least 35 cents for our wool.

The bill became a law. For our next clip of wool we expected 35 cts., per pound, but alas! the best price paid for wool after the passage of the McKinley Law was 27 cents.

Well this kind of an advancement (?) led us to a closer consideration, and more thorough investigation of this matter, until we were satisfied that such legislation was against the sheep raiser.

Now it may seem strange to the Journal-Gazette and even to some wool growers that a higher duty on wool would decrease the price, so perhaps it will be necessary for us to make some explanation, but in our limited space we must be brief.

In the first place, the world is the market, second, some foreign countries can produce wool a little cheaper than we can, and third, the American wool buyer has an eye for business, and when there is an advance in the duty on wool, he says to the foreign producer "The United States charges me so much more for the privilege of taking your wool to American markets, therefore you must sell your wool for so much less or we cannot use it."

The foreign wool grower is like ourselves, he has to sell and agrees to take the reduction.

The wool dealer has then accomplished his end. He says to the American wool grower, "I can buy foreign wool so much cheaper, and if you wish us to buy your wool you must decrease the price so much. Well we are not all millionaires so we can not hold our wool and we are forced to sell at a reduction as great or greater than the advance of the duty, therefore we say give the wool dealer no chance to beat us on laws that are said to be passed for our benefit, and to insure that everything will be right we expect to vote the entire Democratic ticket, and would advise Bro. McKay if he wishes to remain a Republican, it will be better for his conscience if he should stay out of the sheep business, and would ask him not to ask us any more questions as it reminds us that "We burned our fingers once but do not care to again."

Apple Ohio.

As I have not noticed this part of the county represented in the columns of your valuable paper for some time, I thought a few reminders would not be out of place.

The farmers here had a discouraging time of it this season; first, cold weather in planting and exceedingly dry in tilling time, but withal we will raise enough to keep the wolf from the door.

The prospects for a R. R. are somewhat flattering just now. Now if we had a good road to Logan we would be ready for "Free Trade."

We have an abundance of apples and the season of hard cider has come, and many are indulging too freely.

Monroe Thomas has been appointed Post Master at Apple.

We are indisposed to factional issues, but not unlike others, we believe we are too much the slaves of a financial monopoly that control every interest on land or sea and supported by legal power. Are we less patriotic than our forefathers who gave us a good model in this, will we again bow our necks to English dominion, are we not strong enough to stand on two legs--gold and silver basis and walk; our commerce comes from the hand of labor and labor makes the dollar worth the government, and monopoly depreciates and destroys the people's money; let us have both gold and silver at a ratio of 1 to 16 as of yore.

Clerk D. H. Lappen was out on Saturday, visiting relatives last week.

Maxville Ohio.

Last week while Mr. Dan Henricks with others was hauling gravel, an old dead tree that stood near the gravel pit, fell, we might say by the force of gravitation, one of the limbs striking Mr. Henricks on the head inflicting a severe and very painful scalp wound. It was a narrow escape from instant death.

Our village physician, Dr. L. A. Parks has sold his beautiful suburban villa to Mr. Wm. Houston and will leave us in a few days. His forebore will be the State of Michigan. While with us he enjoyed a large and lucrative practice.

Many people are sick with dysentery and malaria.

Mr. David Larimer, well and favorably known in this and Hocking county, is critically ill of consumption.

The writer spent one day last week at the Lancaster Camp-meeting and we fully agree with the sentiment of the Western Christian Advocate: "Camp-meeting, in the primitive sense, has been substituted by the summer post. An attractive outing and not growth in grace or into grace, may be the prime objective. The Church has sought to provide a resort, under favorable conditions, if not religious, at least for recreation; and the more sensational the greater the drawing power." In copying the above, we trust not to be the victim of an ecclesiastical anathema, i. e., "Honi soit qui male pense!" as our pen will be always conservative.
